

MARCH STEERS MINUTES

March Steers meeting began with an update from Bev. Members in the Sandra Molon class should send 3 or less photos for approval but wait until after the Zoom in May to do so. There will be a charge of $10 for the Sheila Frampton Cooper Zoom, payable on the day of the meeting.

Marion Valarde has suggested Vicki Conley as a teacher.

Becky presented the Treasurer's report. She has filed taxes for AQuA. There is an issue with the state of Colorado. She has taken care of getting our 501C-3 status reinstated. Our balance is $11,020.49. The projector sold for $40.

Chris is meeting with Elle at Redlands Community Center about rearranging the meeting room. She will remind her we must have access to the upstairs room for Sheila Frampton Cooper's ZOOM and the class with Sandra Mollon.

Our website may need professional service. Steers approved that expense.

Mary proposed a challenge where each participant brings fabric and then it will be distributed randomly. Steers are coming up with a list of words. Each person gets a word to interpret on the fabric. This will be announced at our March meeting and the challenge begins in April.

Gay proposed organizing an AQuA Art Exhibit. She will contact Sherida and ask her to be a co-chair. Venue ideas were discussed and the best option seems to be the Art Center. Gay will look into that.
